Experience

Called to the Bar in 1994, Murdo specialises in Health and Safety, regulatory and commercial crime, environmental law and Public and Fatal Accident Inquiries.

Between 1999 and 2001 he was instructed as junior counsel (to Richard Keen QC) for Lamin Fhimah, the second accused in the Lockerbie/Pan-Am bombing trial in the Netherlands.

In 2001 he was appointed Crown Counsel and in January 2004 was appointed Senior Crown Counsel. During this period he appeared for the Crown in numerous high-profile matters, including money laundering, health and safety and terrorist cases. He led for the prosecution in approximately twenty murder trials and appeared regularly in the Court of Appeal.

In May 2005 he was appointed Counsel to the Billy Wright Inquiry, a major public inquiry in Northern Ireland (the first under the Inquiries Act 2005) into alleged Government collusion in the murder of a prominent paramilitary prisoner. He was vetted to the highest security level (DV) and had sole responsibility for the investigation of control and security matters within the prison including Health and Safety policy and procedures, and operational matters within the prison - such as budgets, refurbishment and relations with trades unions. In 2008 he became senior counsel to the inquiry.

In July 2011 Murdo joined Temple Garden Chambers in London (www.tgchambers.com), a set specialising in inquiries and inquests, insurance, health and safety and public international law. In October 2011 he was appointed a part-time Sheriff.

He has a Diploma in Trial Advocacy from the National Institute of Trial Advocacy (US) and regularly lectures at the Faculty of Advocates foundation course for pupil advocates. He has presented papers on European Law, public international law, corporate Homicide, health and safety, fatal accident and public inquiries.

In 2012 he was appointed UK delegate to the Criminal Law Committee of the Council of Bars and Law Societies of Europe (CCBE).

Murdo has served on various Faculty committees and has chaired its complaints committee. He has authored and co-authored numerous responses to Government consultations and the House of Lords EU committee on UK government 'opt out' proposals. He has also given evidence to the Scottish Parliament on several occasions.

He has a long-standing interest in public international law and, at the recommendation of the Dean of Faculty, was appointed to the list of approved counsel for the ICTY in 1997 and to the list of defence counsel at the International Criminal Court in the Hague in 2010. He advised Strathclyde police on various legal aspects of the visit of Pope Benedict in 2010.
